Meditation Statue

In today's fast-paced and stressful world, the concepts of peace, balance, and turning inward have gained more value than ever before. A meditation statue transforms this deep search into stone and bronze through the universal language of art. This female figure seated in the lotus position, with hands open in mudra position and eyes closed, symbolizes silence, awareness, and spiritual awakening. Its surface, reflecting light with a golden patina coating, adds both a mystical and magnificent atmosphere to the work.

A Work Where Light and Form Meet

As seen in the image, this meditation statue possesses a very special composition in terms of its relationship with light. The golden surface catching the light and the play of shadows it creates on the figure transform the work into a new experience each time under different hours and different lighting conditions. The legs in lotus position, open fingers, and arms extending upward have been modeled with great anatomical care. The rock-form base integrates the figure with nature, adding a grounding strength to the work.

Areas of Use

A meditation statue is an ideal choice for many different spaces that wish to create a spiritual and aesthetic atmosphere. It creates a powerful focal point that completes the spirit of the space for yoga studios and meditation centers. It creates a calming and peaceful atmosphere in spa and wellness centers. It carries deep aesthetic value in zen gardens and private villa gardens surrounded by nature. It offers guests a special experience in hotels and boutique facilities. In psychology clinics and therapy centers, it visually supports the themes of peace and balance.

Production Details

The most critical point in the production of this work is the ability to reflect the spiritual meaning carried by the figure's posture. Not only anatomical accuracy but also the feeling and energy created by the figure are taken into consideration during the production process. Meditation statues produced in bronze casting maintain their durability outdoors for many years. A choice can be made from gold, antique bronze, and white marble-finish coatings. If desired, a lighting system can be integrated into the figure to achieve a stunning light effect during nighttime hours.

Custom Design Options

In addition to standard meditation figures, fully custom designs can also be produced. All details such as the figure's gender, facial expression, hair style, hand position, and coating color can be shaped according to the customer's requests. Production of a meditation statue is possible in every size, from small desktop dimensions to large garden and public space scales.
