

Sculpture Workshop

Since 2005, with more than 600 completed sculpture orders, we continue producing art as one of Turkey's most established sculpture studios. All 6 sculptors in our studio are graduates of university Fine Arts faculties with a specialization in sculpture. Four members of this team hold the title of State Artist. We operate not merely as a production facility, but as a studio where artistic knowledge, academic discipline, and craftsmanship are kept alive together.

Our Sculpture Studio Production Approach

Our studio primarily uses fiberglass material in sculpture production. This preference stems from the weight, cost, and logistical challenges that traditional casting methods such as bronze present under modern conditions. Fiberglass has become an ideal material for contemporary sculpture orders due to its ease of production, convenience in transportation, aesthetic versatility, and cost efficiency. That said, our studio is fully capable of working with polyester resin, metal casting, concrete, and other materials according to client requests. Each project is shaped from material selection to surface finishing based on the client's needs and the requirements of the space.

Sculpture Studio Awards, Certificates and Documents

Our studio artists and institution have received various awards and certificates on national and international platforms over the years. These achievements are a tangible reflection of our commitment to quality and academic discipline in art production. You can access our studio awards, sculptors' certificates, and institutional documents through the documents page on our website. Shared with full transparency, these documents serve as the most reliable reference for those seeking confidence before placing an order.

International Sculpture Orders and Deliveries

Our studio produces and delivers sculptures not only for the Turkish market but also to clients in 12 different countries worldwide. We have shipped custom and production sculptures to clients in the USA and Russia, among other regions. Throughout international order processes, we provide full support on packaging, shipping, and customs procedures. Our international orders remain active, and we continue to fulfill requests from new countries. We have the production capacity to handle corporate sculpture projects, monument sculptures, decorative figures, and custom design works at an international level.

Educational Content Produced by Studio Artists

Our studio artists do more than produce sculptures — they also create in-depth content about the art of sculpture. The world famous sculptures, renowned sculptors, and notable museum lists featured in the art knowledge section of our website are compiled by these artists. In addition, articles and essays are regularly added to our sculpture art glossary at scheduled intervals. This content serves as an original resource for students, researchers, and enthusiasts interested in the art of sculpture. Written from an academic perspective, these articles reflect our studio's commitment to sharing knowledge alongside its production-focused identity.

Why Choose Fiberglass Sculpture?

Fiberglass is increasingly replacing bronze in contemporary sculpture art. The main reasons are clear: bronze cast sculpture presents serious limitations in terms of both weight and production cost. Fiberglass delivers the same aesthetic impact in a much lighter, more durable, and more economical form. Through surface coating techniques, finishes resembling bronze, gold, rust, stone, or concrete can be achieved. With over 22 years of experience in this field, our studio combines all the advantages fiberglass offers with the highest level of artistic quality. Fiberglass remains the core production material of our studio for public spaces, corporate venues, residential projects, and commercial applications.
