Turkan Saylan Statue

The Turkan Saylan and a Girl Child Monument Statue immortalizes one of the most inspiring struggles in Republic history in an artistic form. This impressive composition represents not only two figures but also Turkey's unwavering determination on the path of education and modernization. Turkan Saylan's compassionate yet dignified stance, along with the girl's hopeful expression looking toward the future, is a symbol of social solidarity. The sculpture adds both historical depth and an enlightened character to any area where it is placed.

Artistic and Technical Features of the Monument

Meticulously modeled in the Heykel.org workshop, this monument is produced with high anatomical fidelity, from Turkan Saylan's characteristic facial features to the texture of her clothing. The posture of the young girl and the proportional harmony between the figures convey the power of education in a visual language. Thanks to the bronze patina finish, the work has achieved a noble and timeless appearance. Produced using durable materials highly resistant to outdoor conditions, rain, and sun, the statue can be safely installed on granite or marble bases. Custom production options in different scales and sizes are available for specific projects.

Usage and Symbolic Areas

This monument statue is a powerful symbol preferred especially by educational institutions, foundations, and organizations supporting contemporary life. It creates an ideal focal point for parks, university campuses, library gardens, and public squares. It serves as an artistic reference for projects aiming to keep social memory alive and pass on Republican values to future generations. Prepared with the assurance of Heykel.org, this work stands as an inspiring tribute to society, distinguished from other bust sculpture productions.
